

Buddhist Studies Review

Journal of the UK Association for Buddhist Studies

Volume 31, Number 1 May 2014

Contents

Editorial	1
Peter Harvey and Alice Collett
Articles
Thematic Research on the Vimalakīrti Nirdeśa Sūtra : An Integrative Review	3
Fung Kei Cheng and Samson Tse
In Search of the Origin of the Enumeration of Hell-kings in an Early Medieval Chinese Buddhist Scripture: Why did King Bimbisāra become Yama after his Disastrous Defeat in Battle in the Wen diyu jing 問地獄經 ('Sūtra on Questions on Hells')?	53
Frederick Shih-Chung Chen
The Meaning of 'Mind-made Body' (S. manomaya-kāya , C. yisheng shen 意生身) in Buddhist Cosmological and Soteriological systems	65
Sumi Lee
Putting the Madhyamaka Trick in Context: A Contextualist Reading of Huntington's Interpretation of Madhyamaka	91
Michael Dorfman
Mindfulness, Free will and Buddhist Practice: Can Meditation Enhance Human Agency?	125
Terry Hyland
Book Reviews
Indian Buddhist Philosophy , by Amber D. Carpenter	141
Reviewed by Rebecca Novick
Buddhism and Ireland: From the Celts to the Counter-culture and Beyond , by Laurence Cox	144
Reviewed by Natasha L. Mikles

Encountering Buddhism in Twentieth-Century British and American Literature , edited by Lawrence Normand and Alison Winch Reviewed by Sarah Shaw	146
Adaptation and Developments in Western Buddhism: Socially Engaged Buddhism in the UK , by Phil Henry Reviewed by Graham Dixon	152
Buddhism, War, and Nationalism: Chinese Monks in the Struggle against Japanese Aggressions, 1931–1945 , by Xue Yu Reviewed by Kai Chen	155